Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 3.2

- There is an area at the back of the pharmacy where people can have a consultation. This offers a degree of privacy, but it is not completely private. And conversations that take place could potentially be overheard by other people working in the pharmacy. The area only has a small stool for a person to sit on. However, a privacy screen is used so other team members cannot see into the area when a consultation is occurring. And no high-risk medicines are stored in the area. The team confirmed that people are always escorted in and out of the area and never left alone in the area. And people are asked if they are happy to have a consultation in the area and if not, the team signpost them to another pharmacy. The team said that there are plans in the future for a dedicated consultation room to be added to the pharmacy premises.
