Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy largely keeps the records it needs to. But its records about the responsible pharmacist (RP) are not always clear about when that duty transfers from one pharmacist to another. This could make it harder to establish who the RP was in the event of a future query. The pharmacy's records about private prescriptions do not always include the correct information about the date on the prescription, meaning the records and prescriptions are harder to reconcile. The extended time intervals between audits of records about medicines requiring secure storage could increase the possibility that mistakes or loss go undetected.

Standard 4.2

- The pharmacy does not routinely highlight prescriptions for higher-risk medicines, so it may be missing out on opportunities to provide additional counselling information.
