Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.7

- Pharmacy team members each have their own identity cards and passwords to access people's information. However, team members do not always used their own cards to access NHS systems or forget to close these systems. So, the digital audit trail of who accessed people's information may sometimes be inaccurate.

Standard 5.3

- The electronic systems that hold people's information automatically lock themselves after a period of inactivity. However, this period is unnecessarily long, which may allow an unauthorised person to access confidential information.
