Pharmacy context and inspection background

This pharmacy is set within a health centre in Dorking. The pharmacy opens seven days a week. It dispenses people's prescriptions, sells over-the-counter medicines and offers health advice. And it provides a range of other NHS services.

This was a full inspection of the pharmacy. The pharmacy was last inspected in July 2016.

Overall outcome: Standards not all met

Standards not met

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy isn't recording the controlled drugs it receives or supplies in the controlled drug (CD) register as it needs to by law. This has been happening for a few months. And the CD register isn't always available for inspection at the registered pharmacy premises as the law requires it to be.

Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.1

- The pharmacy has a range of written procedures that provide its team with information to perform tasks supporting the delivery of its services. And team members can demonstrate the procedures they follow. However, the procedures haven't been reviewed for some time so may contain out-of-date information. And some pharmacy team members haven't signed the procedures to show they have read and understood them and agree to follow them.

Standard 1.2

- The pharmacy usually keeps a log of the mistakes its team makes. But it can't show that it reviews this regularly to help spot patterns or trends. This means team members may sometimes miss opportunities to learn from their mistakes.

Standard 4.3

- Some medicines are removed from their manufacturer's original packaging and put into containers which aren't always labelled properly. This could be problematic in the event of a drug safety alert or recall.

Standard 4.4

- The pharmacy receives safety alerts and drug recalls. But it doesn't always keep records to show what action it takes in response to these. This makes it harder for the pharmacy to show it takes appropriate action when it receives an alert or a recall.
