Areas of good practice

Standard 2.2

- The pharmacy encourages its team members to keep their knowledge and skills up to date. It provides them with structured ongoing training and time to learn while they're at work.

Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy generally maintains appropriate records as required by law. However, some records, such as the emergency supply records and the private prescription register, contain inaccurate or missing information. This could make it harder for the pharmacy to demonstrate the reliability of its records when responding to a query.

Standard 4.2

- The pharmacy team doesn't routinely provide patient information leaflets for all the medicines it supplies in multi-compartment compliance packs. Instead, people are asked to download these from the internet or request them from the pharmacy. This may not be possible for everyone, so some people might not have easy access to the information they need to take their medicines safely.
