Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.1

- The pharmacy has standard operating procedures (SOPs) relating to the automated robot to help team members use it effectively. But the SOPs do not identify who has written and authorised them, or when they are due for review. This means that opportunities to review the SOPs to ensure they remain reflective of current practice may be missed.

Standard 1.2

- The pharmacy uses automation to help reduce the risk of mistakes occurring in the dispensing process. But the pharmacy does not routinely record mistakes that are identified by the automation. This means they may miss opportunities to learn from mistakes to help prevent them from occurring again.

Standard 4.3

- The pharmacy stores medicines used in the automated robot outside of their original packs. It records information such as batch number and expiry date alongside the storage container. But it has not considered the stability of the medicines once removed from their original pack to ensure that medicines remain suitable to use.
