Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 4.2

- Overall, the pharmacy manages the supply of its multi-compartment compliance packs well. Packs dispensed at another of the company's pharmacies provide some information for people to take their medicines safely, including photographs of the medicines within the pack. However, these packs do not routinely provide warnings about medicines in the packs. Multi-compartment compliance packs dispensed at the supplying pharmacy do provide this information. The pharmacy does not routinely supply patient information leaflets to people with compliance packs. So, there is a risk that people may not have all the necessary information to take their medicines safely.
