Pharmacy context and inspection background

This pharmacy is located in a basement of a retail unit on the edge of a town centre. It offers exclusively over-the-counter medicines through its website withaid.com, and the third-party online platforms ebay.co.uk and amazon under the name 247ukchemist.

This was a reinspection following an inspection in March 2025 where the pharmacy did not meet Standards 1.1, 1.2 and 4.2. This reinspection focused on those Standards which had previously not been met. The pharmacy has made some progress improving its procedures and risk assessments for selling medicines online. However, further safeguards are needed to adequately manage risks associated with selling high-risk medicines.

Overall outcome: Standards not all met

Standards not met

Standard 1.1

- The pharmacy's risk assessments are incomplete, so sales may sometimes be inappropriate. Risk assessments do not include a minimum time limit during which the pharmacy declines repeat requests from people for the same or similar medication to help prevent overuse.

- The pharmacy does not have a risk assessment for supplying promethazine elixir online.
- The pharmacy's risk assessments permit supplies of multiple packs or large pack sizes of medicines liable to abuse or misuse which are usually only safe for short-term use.

Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.2

- The pharmacy regularly refuses inappropriate medicine requests. But it does not effectively audit or review its decisions to sell multiple units or a large pack of a medicine in a single transaction, or when repeatedly selling the same or similar medicine to the same person. This lack of oversight increases the risk of inappropriate or unsafe supply.

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy documents people's responses to queries about their need for the medication they request. However, it does not always record the reasons for selling medication, including supplies to people who have been previously refused or when selling larger quantities of medicines to people with chronic conditions. This means sales may be inappropriate, excessive or outside the medicine's licensed usage.
