Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.2

- Pharmacy team members usually discuss mistakes when they are identified. However, the team does not consistently record mistakes or discuss them with the whole team. So it could be missing additional opportunities to identify patterns and mitigate risks in the dispensing process.

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy keeps records of the Responsible Pharmacist (RP). However, the pharmacist does not always document the time they ceased being the RP in this record, as required by law.
- The pharmacy keeps running balances for the controlled drugs (CDs). However, the frequency of these checks varies significantly, so there may be a delay in identifying discrepancies. This could make it hard for the pharmacy to accurately account for these medicines.

Standard 4.2

- The pharmacy has written procedures for dispensing higher-risk medicines such as methotrexate, lithium, and valproate, but lacks guidance for others such as anticoagulants and insulin. Whilst there is a procedure for supplying valproate to at-risk patients, it does not fully align with national guidance. For example, it omits checks to confirm that at-risk males have received contraception advice and that two specialists have approved treatment initiation for new patients.

Standard 4.3

- The pharmacy team regularly checks its medicine stock expiry dates. But it does not keep corresponding records of these checks. So, it may have difficulties demonstrating that it is effectively monitoring stock expiry dates in the event of a query.
- The delivery driver completes records of medicines delivered to people. However, these records are not kept at the pharmacy. So, the pharmacy team may have difficulties responding to queries regarding the service provided.
