Pharmacy context and inspection background

This is a distance-selling pharmacy, situated in a suburban residential area, serving the local population. It mainly supplies NHS prescription medicines. It orders people's repeat prescriptions on their behalf, and it has a home delivery service. Some people receive their medicines in weekly multi-compartment compliance packs to help make sure they take them safely. The pharmacy also provides other NHS services including the New Medicine Service (NMS) and Pharmacy First urgent medication supplies. The pharmacy has a website m8pharmacy.com.

This was the first routine inspection of the pharmacy since it was registered in July 2025.

Standards that were met with areas for improvement

Standard 1.2

- The dispenser and checker do not always initial dispensing labels or multi-compartment compliance packs. So, the pharmacy team may have difficulties clarifying who was responsible for each supplied prescription medication, which affects investigating and managing mistakes.

- The pharmacy team discuss and document mistakes it identifies when preparing medicines. The team addresses each of these errors separately, and regularly reviews the records of mistakes. But team members do not always document why each mistake had happened. So, the pharmacy could be missing additional opportunities to identify patterns and mitigate risks in the dispensing process.

Standard 1.6

- The pharmacy monitors its CD stock quantities. However, these checks are intermittent, so there may be a delay in detecting a discrepancy.

Standard 4.2

- The pharmacy completes appropriate checks for higher risk medicines. But it does not have written procedures for some higher risk medicines, and a few checks are missing from the valproate dispensing procedure. So, the pharmacy may not be able to demonstrate that team members understand the necessary checks they need to complete.
